Parents Get Son's Medal, U.S. Award For Gallantry

The Silver Star Medal has been awarded posthumously to Private First Class Bernard Seiden, of the United States Marine Corps, who was killed in action on Guadalcanal on October 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Seiden, of 725 Eighteenth Avenue, Irvington, N.Y., the marine's parents, received the medal at ceremonies in Irvington Townhall. It was presented to them by Lieutenant Arthur Cole, U.S.M.C., of Quantico, Va.

The medal was awarded to Private Seiden for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity during action against enemy Japanese forces on Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, on Oct. 14, 1942," when he was instrumental in rescuing two of his comrades from an avalanche of debris under shell fire.

Private Seiden, twenty years old, was an only child. Before entering the Marine Corps a week after Pearl Harbor, he had worked as a clerk in a meat-packing concern in Newark. He was a graduate of Irvington High School, where he was for two years quarterback on the football team.

When informed that a medal had been awarded to her son for bravery, Mrs. Seiden told one of those strange stories which come with war. On the night of October 16, she had a dream, so vivid that it awakened her at exactly 2 a.m. It seemed that something had happened to her son, and, half asleep, she got up and went into his room and made the bed that had been his before he went to war.

...mes F. Cough, her son's company commander on Guadalcanal which stated that Bernard had been killed in action at 2 a.m. on October 16.

PARIS BISHOP WORE STAR OF DAVID

Mgr. Chaptal, Auxiliary Bishop of Paris, has died. As a protest against anti-Jewish measures, Mgr. Chaptal last year began wearing the star of David—a lead which was followed by many priests and members of religious orders.

Mgr. Chaptal, whose age was 81, was titular Bishop of Issauda. He was born in Paris on Dec. 25, 1861, and was a great-grandson of Count Chaptal, Napoleon's Minister of the Interior.

He had served as secretary of the embassies at St. Petersburg, Stockholm, Constantinople and Munich. Mgr. Chaptal studied theology at St. Sulpice, was ordained in 1887 and was made a Bishop in 1922.

In 1926 he accompanied Cardinal Dubois, Archbishop of Paris, on a visit to the United States. The previous year, Mgr. Chaptal was reported working to lead the Russian refugees in Paris toward Roman Catholicism.

Church Head Assails All Racial Bias

The Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin of New York, newly elected moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, called upon his followers to end racial discrimination.

Dr. Coffin joined Dr. George Edmund Haynes of New York in a similar plea before an inter-racial [illegible] meeting in Depart[illegible] executive [illegible] partment of Race Relations of the Federal Council of Churches.

People Block Clearing Of Sofia Ghettos

The evacuation of 25,000 Jews from the ghettos of Sofia, scheduled for May 26, was reported postponed, following wide outbreaks in the Bulgarian capital during which large crowds of non-Jews, referred to in official communications as "anti-nationalist" or "Communists," demonstrated against the "cruel, inhuman measures" the government was about to adopt. Only 2,000 had been evacuated, it was stated.

Several police charges with nightsticks were said to have broken up the earlier of two demonstrations, but the situation was reported to be "tense."

Trouble flared up shortly after 6 o'clock the morning of May 26, according to news reaching London, when the first group of 4,000 Jews was being marched off to the station to entrain for the east. Each was allowed to take a maximum of 1,000 levas and fifty pounds of luggage, part of which had to consist of food for forty-eight hours. The column was blocked by a large throng singing the Bulgarian national anthem and shouting "seditious slogans."

Before the Ministry of Interior, it is reported another crowd stood in the streets shouting further "seditious slogans." Dispersed, they regrouped to parade before the Sofia synagogue, where another scuffle ended badly for the police, and the military had to intervene.

Bulgarian observers in London believe it is too late for the government to back down on its anti-Jewish measures and expected more seditious trouble in the immediate future if the government tries to carry out the evacuation.

Another government measure, [illegible] ...ister of education closed primary schools throughout Bulgaria. It was stated that the buildings would be placed at the disposal of the Bulgarian Army and the German military formations stationed in Bulgaria.

Palestine Jews In Royal Navy

The number of Palestinian Jews serving with the Merchant Navy who have perished in action on the sea has reached 25. Hundreds of Palestine Jews have volunteered for service in the Royal Navy and are serving with distinction throughout the Mediterranean. Their bravery has been cited by their naval commanders who praise the skill and technical knowledge of the Jewish crews, "their degree of responsibility, courage and readiness for any type of service."

Twenty-two Palestinian Jewish boys who had hitherto served as members of the ground crews of the RAF in Palestine left for England and Rhodesia to be trained as pilots, the first time that Palestinians as a group have been granted facilities to be trained as pilots.

Groups of American doctors, nurses and service men, who are spending their leave in Palestine in increasing numbers have been visiting all parts of Jewish Palestine under the auspices of the Central Hospitality Committee of the Jewish Agency. They are shown all the ancient sites as well as modern settlements. The visitors include many Jewish soldiers and members of the WAACS, who are thrilled at the opportunity of seeing Palestine. The staff of the American Military Base Hospital at Jerusalem includes many Jews. It is now the largest hospital in Palestine and the entire Middle East.

A delegation representing the Jewish youth of Tripoli called upon the British commander there and requested permission to join the Jewish Battalions of the Palestine Regiment. The request has been forwarded to military headquarters in Cairo.

To equip themselves for work in war plants, more than 2,000 Jewish men and women have started a course of vocational training in the trade schools of Tel Aviv and Haifa. They undergo training as fitters, turners, machinists and welders. The instructors are provided by the Jewish Agency. Their

HAS PLAN FOR REFUGEE WORK AFTER WAR

A three-way program whereby the refugee problem could be solved after the war was submitted to the Christian Council for Refugees in London, England, by Dr. G. G. Kullman, Deputy High Commissioner for Refugees.

He said the problem might be solved by returning the refugees to their homes, by getting them absorbed into the countries where they have found asylum or by re-emigration to countries overseas.

He expressed the opinion that a combination of all three methods would provide a solution for 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 persons who had been displaced by war.

The council unanimously adopted a resolution expressing concern over the "terrible" reports about Nazi extermination of European Jewry and stating its readiness to cooperate in every way to relieve the victims, particularly in aiding those fortunate enough to escape.

Nazis Link Soviet-Polish Rift With Jews

Russia's action in suspending diplomatic relations with the Polish Government transformed into a first-class political issue the dispute over the "Soviet massacre" allegations recently made by Goebbels. He gave the widest publicity to the allegation that, in the spring of [illegible] officers whom they had as prisoners of war. He also linked this slander with an attack on the Jews claiming that "Jewish commissars" took part in the murders.

The Soviet authorities promptly denounced the story as a vile and clumsily concocted fabrication. The massacre, they state, took place at Gnezdovaya, where archaeological excavations of a historic burial ground had been carried out. This accounted for the Nazi "discovery" of numerous graves.

The Russians state that the Nazis themselves are responsible for the massacre, and that they invented the slander in a clumsy effort to hide their guilt. These Polish officers, say the Russians, were engaged on construction work west of Smolensk in 1941. In the summer of that year, they, together with many Soviet citizens, fell into the hands of the Nazis when the Red Army withdrew from the area.

The Nazis, the Soviet authorities add, are doing their utmost to poison the minds of the people of the progressive nations against the Jews, because these people are filled with tremendous anger against the Nazi treatment of defenceless civilians, and especially of Jews. To this end, the Hitlerites invented mythical Jewish commissars named Pavel Brodnitsky and Chaim Finzberg, who have never existed.

Despite these denials the Nazis persisted in their efforts to stir up strife between the Poles and the Russians and also between the Poles and the Jews, says the London Jewish Chronicle.

The official Soviet News Agency statements on the massacre have been pilloried in the Berlin press as a Jewish admission of guilt. The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung describes the "attempt by Stalin's Jews in Moscow" to assert that the graves were archaeological excavations as "the climax of impudence and cynicism on the part of the Jewish Bolshevik murderers and criminals."

The Berliner Borsen-Zeitung says: "... In vain the Poles have knocked at the doors of their friends. In vain will every other European nation knock at the same doors if menaced by Bolshevism. The reason is that the same Power, namely, International Jewry, reigns in London as well as in Washington."

The Voelkischer Beobachter, Hitler's newspaper, says that the murders have strengthened the conviction that the complete elimi-

J. D. C. In Europe Operates Freely Only In Switzerland

PORTUGAL IS SINGLE OPEN DOOR TO WESTERN HEMISPHERE

The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee in the first five months of 1943, appropriated $3,629,000 for its work overseas. This represents an increase of nearly a half million dollars over the organization's budgetary appropriations for a similar period of 1942.

These funds are being expended on behalf of refugees from Nazi persecution in Switzerland, Spain, Portugal and Sweden, in North Africa, the Near East and Asiatic Russia and in Central and South America. Assistance by the Joint Distribution Committee is being continued, too, in France and to a limited extent in other occupied countries under arrangements made before America's entrance into the war, which permits responsible local committees to borrow in the Joint Distribution Committee's name there, for post-war repayment, as well as by means of funds deposited with the committees before the outbreak of hostilities.

In France, especially, expenditures for child care and refugee aid have actually increased since the Nazi occupation.

At the time when all France fell to the Germans, 5,000 Jewish children were being prepared for emigration to the U.S. These children were being cared for by the Oeuvre, French medical and child-care agency, and other local committees by means of funds furnished by the J.D.C. That assistance is still reaching the children. Advices received within the last week indicate that the child-care and relief work maintained by the JDC in F[illegible] sary has proved inadequate. The J.D.C. appropriations for France for the first six months of this year, allocated for relief before the Nazi occupation, total $600,000. In other occupied lands with which communications have been broken, $300,000 has been made available for relief purposes.

Inside the steel ring of Nazi arms there is just one European country in which the J.D.C. can operate freely. That is Switzerland. The J.D.C. spent $305,000 there before the end of May for general refugee aid purposes, and $9,500 for special assistance to refugee students. In addition, as a guarantee for the maintenance of 1,000 Jewish children whom it is hoped shortly to evacuate from France, the J.D.C. has appropriated $200,000.

The high cost of caring for those refugees now in Spain who braved the dangers of a flight over the Pyrenees and the possibility of incarceration in prisons or internment camps, has necessitated the allocation of $400,000 for five months of work there. It was pointed out J.D.C. works for their release from internment camps, assumes the responsibility for feeding and sheltering these thousands of refugees and arranges, wherever possible, for their evacuation journey to freedom. Portugal at present is the only open door in Europe through which men, women and children can still to safe destinations in the Western Hemisphere.

In addition to these huge sums for refugee aid, the J.D.C. [illegible]

Children Receive Warm Welcome In Palestine

A warm welcome was given in Palestine to 830 children who arrived from Teheran, accompanied by 350 adults, after having travelled since the beginning of January. As a result of the Iraqi Government's refusal to grant them transit visas, the children, as was reported earlier, had been compelled to sail for six weeks from the Persian Gulf through the Indian Ocean and the Red Sea via Suez to Palestine, reports the London Jewish Chronicle.

The first ten coaches, carrying 400 children, arrived early in the morning at the railway station of Rehovot, where the refugees were met by the two Palestinian Chief Rabbis, Dr. Isaac Herzog and Rabbi Benzion Uziel, Isaac Ben-Zvi, president of the Vaad Leumi, delegates of the Jewish Agency, and delegations from all Jewish schools in the Southern District of Palestine.

On their arrival the children, who are between the ages of three and ten, looked well, although their clothes were badly worn. Cheerfully they thanked the British authorities and the police who had accompanied them from Egypt.

A second group of 400 children arrived at noon.

A special Women's Committee took care of the children and accompanied them to the camp at Athlit, where they will be kept in quarantine until arrangements are made for their disposal to Jewish settlements all over the country. Most of the children will go to religious settlements. In Athlit the children were met by Miss Henrietta Szold, head of the Youth Aliyah.

When the children were passing through Egypt a gift of sweets was sent to them by a Jewish unit of the Royal Engineers. On their arrival at Gaza a breakfast was served to them, on the instructions of the Palestine Government.

Thirty-five children from the detention camp, including 30 from the refugee transport, were later transferred to a children's home in Jerusalem.

M. Drohojowski, who was recently appointed Polish Consul-General in Jerusalem, with the prerogatives of a Minister of State for the Middle East, and Dr. Henryk Rosmarin, Polish Consul in Tel-Aviv, paid a visit to the refugee children [illegible] afterwards issued a statement pointing out that the arrival of the children in Palestine had been made possible through the efforts of the Polish Government and, especially, of General Anders, Commander-in-Chief of the Polish Army recruited in Russia.

Mrs. Pool's father was the first collaborator of the linguist, Ben Yehuda, in the epic pioneering work of reviving the daily use of the Hebrew language. His father was notable for his interpretation of the Rabbinic Law in relation to the rebuilding of Palestine.

Upon graduation from Hunter College, New York, Mrs. Pool was awarded the first International Traveling Scholarship to France. She studied at the University of Paris and at Columbia University and taught comparative literature, French, Latin and Greek at Hunter College prior to her marriage to Dr. David de Sola Pool, minister of the Congregation Shearith Israel, of New York, known as the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue, the oldest Jewish congregation in the United States. Lauds Refugee War Work In U.S.

Vital contributions to the war are being made by many refugees, it was said in the annual report of the National Refugee Service. The report revealed that thousands of refugees were serving in the U.S. armed forces, working in war industries and helping to maintain civilian health and morale.

The report was prefaced by a letter from Earl G. Harrison, Commissioner of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, in which he paid tribute to the refugees.

In 1942, according to the report, the service made 5,800 job placements of refugee workers, many of them in war industries; retrained 520 in skills essential to war production; placed 350 emigre physicians in vital civilian defense posts and helped distinguished scientists and scholars to put their skills to the best wartime use.

The marriage of Miss Martha Dubitsky, daughter of Mrs. J. Dubitsky, 1260 Bernard Avenue West, and the late Rev. J. Dubitsky, to George Berenbom, son of Mrs. M. Berenbom, and the late Max Berenbom, of Saskatoon, Sask., took place at Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue on Sunday, May 23, at two o'clock, Rabbi Dr. Herman Abramowitz officiating, assisted by Cantor N. Mendelson. The bride was given away by her uncle, Rev. Irving Dubitsky, of Smith's Falls, Ontario. She wore a gown of white lace and mousseline de soie. It had a heartshaped neckline, long tight-fitting sleeves, a close-fitting torso bodice, and a very full skirt of lace with mousseline de soie insertions. Her crown of lilies-of-the-valley held a five-and-a-half yard-long tulle illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of spring flowers. The maid of honor, Miss Miriam Dubitsky, sister of the bride, wore a turquoise blue net gown, with matching short-sleeved jacket, a headdress of pink flowers, and a turquoise blue shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion, pink accessories, and a bouquet of spring flowers. The best man was Sergeant Benjamin Berenbaum, cousin of the groom. The groom was given away by his uncle, S. Berenbaum. Spring flowers and white candles were used for decoration. Mrs. M. N. Fineberg played the wedding music on the organ. A reception was held in the board room of the synagogue, where white candles and spring flowers decorated the tables, the bride's mother wearing a black sheer gown, with matching jacket, trimmed with black [illegible] and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a purple gown of crepe, with colored beading around the waistline, a black straw hat, with white flowers around the crown, and a corsage of white carnations. The couple left on their honeymoon trip to Ste. Agathe, the bride wearing a tweed tailored suit, with a white blouse, and brown accessories. They will reside at 4507 St. Urbain Street. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Ben. H. Davis (nee Sylvia Blackman), Euclid Avenue, on May 22, at Toronto Western Hospital, a daughter, sister of Gloria.

DEATHS

Nathan L. Nathanson, 57, president of General Theatres and former president of Famous Players Canadian Corporation Limited, died at his home, Lyndhurst Avenue, on May 27. Mr. Nathanson had been in ill health for six months. A native of Minneapolis, he came to Toronto in 1907 and was employed at the amusement park at nearby Scarborough beach for several years later going to Dominion Park, Montreal. He returned to Toronto to enter the outdoor advertising business with the Connor-Ruddy Company, now E. L. Ruddy Co., as an advertising salesman, and later formed his own advertising agency, Nathanson-Wadsworth, Co. In 1916 he entered the theatre business when with his associates he purchased the old Majestic Theatre and when it reopened as the Regent it was acclaimed the first deluxe motion picture theatre in Toronto. This was the first of a coast-to-coast chain which he and his partners built up in the succeeding years. Shortly after the opening of the Regent, he formed Regal Films of which his brother, Henry, now is president. Mr. Nathanson was president of Famous Players from 1916 until 1929 and returned to the post from 1933 to 1941, when he retired to form General Theatres Corporation Ltd. He was president of General Theatres and also of General Theatres Investment Co. Ltd. He was a director of Odeon Theatres of Canada and Empire Universal Films Limited and was a governor of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Irene Harris Nathanson, two daughters, Jean and Joan, and a son, Lieut. Paul Nathanson, who in civilian life was president of Odeon Theatres. Four brothers and one sister also survive: Henry of Toronto, Dr. M. L. Nathanson, of Los Angeles; B. L. Nathanson, C. R. Nathanson and Mrs. Epstein of Minneapolis. Mr. Nathanson was a member of Holy Blossom Temple.

Honorary pallbearers were Col. John A. Cooper, Arthur Slaght, K.C., Hon. W. D. Ross, E. L. Ruddy, Charles Drummond, R. O. Johnston, Burnham L. Mitchell, Dr. J. G. Thomas, Sir William [illegible], Nicholas Acheson, A. [illegible], Thomas J. Bishop, Dr. Robert Laughlin, Haskell M. Masters, Hon. J. Earl Lawson, George McCullagh, Sqdn. Ldr. D. A. McIntosh and Joseph Tarshis.

Dr. Joseph S. Kornfeld, Rabbi, and Rabbi M. N. Eisendrath, of New York, officiated at funeral service at the temple.

Mrs. Nathan Sontag, a night club singer, professionally known as Sair Lee, died suddenly on May 29 at Holyoke, Mass., according to word received by her mother, Mrs. Ida L. Siegel, 130 Northcliffe Boulevard. She was married last June to Lt. Sontag of the United States Army Air Corps. Thirty years of age, Mrs. Sontag was the daughter of Mrs. Siegel, a former member of the Toronto Board of Education, and the late I. H. Siegel. As Sarah Siegel, she taught for several years in Glenhill Public School. Her musical career had its beginning ten years ago when she formed a two piano team with Ruth Lowe, Toronto musician and composer. Assuming the name of Sair Lee, the young musician won popularity in Toronto singing at the Royal York Hotel with Geoffrey Waddington's Orchestra and Bert Pearl's accompaniment. For a time she engaged in radio work in Chicago, returning to Toronto to tour with Red Nichols and his orchestra. Her most recent engagement was in New York City, where she and Ruth Lowe were featured at the Hotel Sheridan. Surviving also are two brothers, PO. David Siegel, overseas, and PO. Avrom Siegel, with the R.C.A.F., at Halifax, N.S., and three sisters, Mrs. Jerome Lalovitz of Savannah, Ga., Rohama Siegel of Hollywood; and Rivka Siegel, of Toronto.

In The War

The London Sunday Express, of England reports the adventures of Flt. Sgt. Clifford Shnier, a Winnipeg Jewish boy who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Shnier, formerly of Emerson, Man., and now of Winnipeg.

Flt. Sgt. Shnier, who was a radio salesman in Winnipeg before he joined the R.C.A.F. took part in every raid on the Skoda works at Pilsen. He captained a big Lancaster bomber. "We were flying through a wicked section of flak, searchlight, muck and corruption," Shnier told a Sunday Express man. "It looked absolutely solid, so we had no option. We just had to make our way through. Then we were picked up by a blue searchlight and were immediately zoned for seven minutes. It seemed more like seven hours. I lowered my seat and tried to sink my head into the cockpit. But the glare was blinding. It bathed the fuselage with a white light till it looked like a bottle of milk. We went into Pilsen between two concentrations of flak and searchlights that soon merged into a single cone. We saw our bombs go down. After being hit in the bomb bay and mainplane, I took advantage of a cloud and managed to escape into the dark." Shnier's crew have teamed together since October, have taken part in most of the heaviest raids over Germany, and have gone as far as Czechoslovakia.

MEAT RATIONING AS IT AFFECTS FARMERS

Farmers may slaughter their livestock for their own consumption—but must turn into the Local Ration Board at the end of each month, 1 coupon for each two pounds of their own slaughtered meat consumed on their own premises. Farmers need in no case surrender more than half the number of each month's valid coupons for such home slaughtered meat.

The remaining half of farmers' meat coupons may be used for ordinary retail purchases of meat, on the basis of coupon values as shown on the chart above.

Farmers may supply meat from their own slaughterings to other farmers for consumption on their own farm premises. Local farmer "Beef Rings" are also permitted. Farmers providing meat to other farmers, or "Beef Rings", must collect meat coupons on the basis of 1 coupon for each two pounds of meat, gross weight. Self-addressed and stamped envelopes for mailing in coupons can be secured at your Local Ration Board.

CONSUMER MEAT IN LOCKERS

Before June 30th all consumers (including farmers) who store meat in lockers must declare in writing to the nearest Branch of the Ration Administration, the quantity of rationed meat they have in storage over and above eight pounds per person in the household. Declarations must be accompanied by sufficient coupons from the ration books of the locker holder and his household to cover the quantity of declared stored meat at the rate of 1 coupon for each two pounds of any meat in the above groups.

The number of coupons to be detached by the locker user need not exceed more than 50% of the total meat coupons in the possession of himself and his household. Locker users may retain for retail purchasing one of each similarly numbered pair of coupons.

NOTICE TO THE MEAT TRADE

Retailers of meat must collect coupons for any rationed meats sold on or after May 27th. They need not turn in coupons to their suppliers for meat purchased up until June 10th. This arrangement is made to enable them to build up stocks. A Special Food Bulletin giving complete details of meat rationing is being mailed to all food stores.

One Hundred Thousand Refugees In Canada Would Be A Great Help

From An Address By Rev. Dr. William Orr Mulligan, Minister, Melville Presbyterian Church, Montreal, At The Intercession Service At Temple Emanu-El.

In our Communion there are two parables that we teach our children as early as we can teach them. One is that of the Prodigal Son and the other that of the Good Samaritan. The Prodigal son is the man who wasted his opportunities and was given another chance in his father's house. The other is of the man who was beaten on the wayside of life. The priest passed by on one side and the Levi on the other, but the one who helped him was an outsider, who bound up his wounds, poured oil on them, and took him to the nearest boarding house and asked that they look after him until he came back again. He did something for him.

One of the tragedies of the war has been that so many people tried to escape and were left people without a country. Thousands of them that would be an acquisition to any land under ordinary circumstances or even under extraordinary circumstances, in my opinion, have had no sanctuary. For fourteen years I have been convenor of immigration for my own denomination in Montreal and know something of Western Canada immigration, and I know personally, I see no objection whatever to Canada receiving 100,000 emigrant refugees. We have a population of 11 million; the United States has a population of 135 million. Suppose you brought in half a million. Between the two countries it would be nothing at all.

[illegible] Scott has pointed out, the [illegible] comes from two [illegible] origins and, secondly, the French Canadians. It seems to me to be a bitter criticism of our Christianity when we allow certain organized groups, that by no means represent the bulk of those they profess to represent, prevent us from doing what is right. The United States have had to bring in many colored people from Bermuda to help save certain crops, 5,000 of them. They are bringing in hundreds of thousands of Mexicans into the United States to help them in their industrial problems and Canada is short of labor, too.

Do you mean to tell me that these refugees from Europe would not fit in for our present necessities? I think they would fit in magnificently, because you know that the Jews never become a social burden on the body politic. During the years of the depression only one half of one per cent of the Jewish population applied for relief. No other group can approach that. We know your desire to fit in — we know your energy.

For myself, having at least some knowledge, I am not an expert, but expert enough to be confident of the opinion that 100,000 refugees in Canada would be a great help. Who is my neighbour? He that showed mercy, — he that did not talk about it, but he that did something. We can do it now if we want to. Now is the time to do it. There is at least enough public opinion in the United States and Canada to move the governments to action. The Greeks said the man who prays to God to get his wagon out of the rut must put his shoulder to the wheel. God helps those who help themselves. We have the power and the opportunity to do it.

I am here to express to you my very keen appreciation of this opportunity and my deep sympathies with you, as well as my regrets, with your Rabbi, that such a meeting as this is necessary. We can do something, and, having the door open, we can receive at least 100,000 who would be a tremendous help to us at the present time.

training allowances for one to two months is furnished them by the government which also defrays other expenses totaling $320,000 in the first year.

A fleet of 12 ambulances was presented by the WIZO (Women's International Zionist Organization) for service with the British Military Hospitals in Palestine. The ambulances were purchased with funds raised by the WIZO in many countries.

Eight new Jewish settlements were established in Palestine during 1942. The number of children in labor settlements has risen by 12% to a total of 11,369.

A new Hebrew Military Troupe to provide entertainment for the soldiers has been formed. This troupe comprises some twenty artists, men and women, all in uniform, and is headed by Sgt. Zvi Friedland, one of Habima Theatre's leading actors and directors.

A new outpost of the Palestine Yishuv was established in the southern part of the country, southeast of Gaza, organized by a group of 40 members of Hapoel Hamizrachi (Zionist Orthodox Labor). The land which occupies an area of some 6,000 dunams belonging to the Jewish National Fund, will ultimately accommodate 120 settlers from Germany and Czechoslovakia.

The influx of Jewish capital during the year 1942 is estimated at 5,000,000 Pounds ($20,000,000). During the first three years of the war the total Jewish capital brought into Palestine totaled some 15,000,000 Pounds ($60,000,000), reports "Palestine and the Middle East."

The diamond industry in Palestine continues on its upward course with 3,800 workers already engaged in this industry, Palestine has taken the place formerly occupied by Flanders. Despite the high tariff on the import of diamonds into the U.S.A., there is a growing demand there for industrial diamonds, cut and polished by experts in Palestine. Members of the World Diamond Syndicate in London are believed to be reticent to encourage further expansion of the Palestine industry for fear that this expansion may be at the expense of the Belgian industry.

The Hebrew daily "Davar" reports that after long experiments a Jewish oil firm has succeeded in manufacturing magnesium oxide and magnesium carbonate from Dead Sea derivate materials. These types of magnesium are in demand in large quantities both in Palestine and abroad, especially for the manufacture of rubber and millstones.

The enlistment of school children for agricultural labor service, which has become a traditional feature of school life, has been organized by the Educational Committee of the Vaad Leumi in conjunction with the Youth Department of the World Zionist Executive. Early in March the pupils of the seventh grades of the secondary schools left for work in the villages for a period of six weeks, returning on the eve of Passover. 800 children comprising 70% of all seventh grade pupils participated in the project this year. According to Abe Herman of the Zionist Youth Department, a study of all the groups revealed that the overwhelming majority of the children were enthusiastic in their response to participate in agricultural work. During the summer holidays sixth and seventh grade students will be organized for agricultural labor service for a minimum period of two months.

The Jewish colony Ain Harod recently marked a triple event: the marriage of the first girl born in the settlement, the silver wedding of her parents and the golden wedding of her grandparents. All of the celebrants reside in the colony.

refugees to Palestine and $7,600 for the transportation of 90 Bulgarian refugees from Turkey to the Island of Cyprus. Other substantial appropriations for the five month period included assistance to Jewish refugees in Asiatic Russia, for refugee aid to Sweden and a contribution of $25,000 made by the J.D.C. to the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation Operations for emergency refugee needs in North Africa.

This contribution to the OFRRO is one small phase of an undertaking of growing significance in North Africa. The Joint Distribution Committee is sending trained American personnel to North Africa to evolve a program of relief and reconstruction. North Africa is to be the testing ground for post-war rehabilitation techniques and procedures. The J.D.C. is, however, no stranger to this area. Its local committees, functioning in Algiers, Casablanca, and Tangier, have been working with considerable effectiveness in securing the release of refugees from internment camps, providing for their maintenance and directing them to employment. Of the 220 refugees recently released from the concentration camps there, 156 promptly found employment with the United States occupation forces in Casablanca.

NAZIS LINK SOVIET-POLISH RIFT WITH JEWS

nation of the Jews from Europe is an indispensable precondition for the new life. This paper also carries another front page article headed "How long will Britain remain silent about the mass murder?" It says: ". . . The very gang who howled fortissimo and enlisted the sympathy of the whole world when the window panes of Hebrews were smashed does not notice the slaughter of 12,000 Poles."

The campaign has so far yielded satisfactory results to the Nazis, since the Polish Government demanded an investigation by the Red Cross, an action which led directly to the Soviet-Polish diplomatic rift.

CHURCH HEAD ASSAILS ALL RACIAL BIAS

ling the race issue "timidly." Dr. Coffin declared:

"It is mortifying that we have been too clam-bound to bring together men and women of various social stations so that they may understand one another and that the partition wall of clam feeling may fall away.

"Is it not our present duty to declare every form of racial discrimination — anti-Semitism, Jim-Crowism, segregationism—doomed in a world where Christ is at the right hand of God?"

Dr. Haynes, speaking upon what he described as "a crisis of color," said:

"We Christians should make up our minds whether with courage and conviction we will practice the principles of equality of the religion we profess.

"A new and very real danger is apparent today in racial discrimination in the fact that the Communists are massing party members by the thousands because they have abolished all color lines."

ORT TRAINS REFUGEES IN SWITZERLAND

The sum of 250,000 Swiss francs will be spent by the ORT in Switzerland during 1943 on various projects to aid Jewish refugees, it has been announced at Geneva by A. Syngalowski, a member of the executive committee of the World ORT Union.

Mr. Syngalowski reported that the ORT now maintains a number of workshops in Switzerland where clothing and shoes are repaired for 2,500 Jewish refugees. Ninety Jewish refugee boys have been apprenticed to Swiss masters who are paid by the ORT. Six new workshops are being opened by the ORT in camps where the Jewish refugees are held, and two workshops exist in the homes for refugee children.

In addition, the ORT is training a number of Jewish refugee children for agricultural work and is supplying material aid to former instructors and students of ORT establishments in Nazi-held countries who are now in Switzerland as refugees.

"Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without rancor
That for what it cost me to be free,
I might have had an anchor."

The Montreal Star, in commenting on the plight of the refugees, said recently: "No earthly good purpose is served by frantic appeals in page advertisements and reproachful statements issued by well-meaning organizations." This had reference to full-page advertising in the New York Times and New York Herald Tribune and many other dailies by the Jewish Army Committee, condemning the work of the Bermuda Conference on the refugee problem as a "cruel mockery". It may also have referred to other advertisements placed within the past few months by the Jewish Labor Committee, the Emergency Committee For Zionist Affairs, and the New Zionist Organization of America.

Senator Scott Lucas, of Illinois, rose twice in the United States Senate to attack the Committee For A Jewish Army for the advertisements scoring the Bermuda Conference. He said: "The time may come for a showdown with respect to the alien groups, regardless of who they may be, who are here under temporary sufferance at the hands of a benevolent Government which accords them better treatment than they can get in any other place under God's shining sun, and while they are here they take advantage of the courtesy and kindness extended to them. . . . The individual who is responsible for the advertisement, Peter Bergson, is not even a citizen of the country. . . . He is now, I understand, a citizen of Palestine. He and four or five other Palestinians are in this country at the present time, preparing full-page advertisements, among which was the one we discussed on the floor of the Senate. . . . It seems to me to be rather unusual to find citizens of another country coming here and doing what was done in this particular instance. I resent it more than ever . . . as the result of what I have learned about Mr. Bergson's status."

This whole full - page advertisement business had to eventuate into a boomerang before long in some way or other, and what brought it to the point was the alleged use by the Committee For A Jewish Army of the names of United States Senators, without their specific permission, in the advertisement attacking the Bermuda Conference. Now, all the various full-page advertisements have carried the names of prominent Gentiles in support of the causes put forward, and so have other published statements which were unpaid for as to space. Some of these kindly people may have lent the use of their names without knowing very much, perhaps, about what they were in support of, and without the time in which to investigate before publication. But Senator Lucas's statement about the use of names without permission, whether strictly true or not, and it may be an alibi, now casts doubt upon the actual support of other leaders whose names were used in numerous advertisements at other times. Perhaps these well-intentioned people will now refuse to be associated publicly with any Jewish cause of any kind, and the lack of their friendly support will mean more than the angry refusal of a Senator to give his name, since he is suspect as being a vote-catcher, anyway, and these others, many of whom are academic personages, are not. But, perhaps the Senators also will refuse to give their names in future since Senator Lucas cited the fact that even Senator Edwin C. Johnson, Chairman of the Committee For A Jewish Army, had not been told beforehand what the advertisement on the Bermuda Conference contained!

However, the use of these full-page advertisements is not good any way you look at it. Instead of "making friends and influencing people", to quote Dale Carnegie, it makes enemies and alienate people, Jews as well as non-Jews. The ads are made up of screams and screeches in their sentiments and howls in their capitalized words and exclamation points. They seem to justify the frequent claim that the Jews are always hollering and yelling and kicking up a fuss. They are in a fever of over-dramatization of a situation when, if anything, understatement might be more effective for their purpose. They are in the mood of an irresponsible and reckless man with the sweat pouring down his face, trying to win adherents to his side in a high-pitched argument.

These ads are not only ill-advised because they engender resentment among both Jews and Gentiles by their loud-mouthed exhortations and their general bad taste, but because they reveal Jewish group disunity and chaos so plainly that they are bound to make friendly Gentiles reluctant to give their support to any Jewish causes for fear there is no authentic Jewish solidity connected with them. In addition, the advertisements smell of too much ready money.

Tens of thousands of dollars is a mild appraisal of what these expenditures run into. Who has all that cash? If there is so much available, why doesn't it go to the established organization funds that unceasing public collections are always being made for? Is this the best, the wisest way to spend the money, even if it is given by individuals for the specific purpose? If they can throw money around like that, why don't they throw it to war work, rescue, rehabilitation, et cetera? These are natural questions for the public to ask. The vulgarity and intemperance of these advertisements reflect badly upon the Jews as a group and it is to be hoped that they will be discontinued, never to appear again for any reason.

Scottish Churches And Jewry

By The Very Rev. J. Hutchison Cockburn

For the first time in Scotland, there met together, on 27th January, 1943, representatives of Scottish Jewry and of the Scottish Churches. The times brought them together; the desire and the need were mutual. Hitler's treatment of the Jews is not due to a war aberration; it is not forced upon him by circumstances or by war strategy, but is the result of a deliberate policy adopted in the early days of his career.

Few in Germany or elsewhere in the early days of Nazism took "Let Judah Perish" as a serious policy, considering it rather a plank in a platform which Hitler could satisfy without recourse to serious measures. But Hitler is not only diseased in mind; he is "possessed of a devil" (Is there any other explanation that fits the case?) and will go to any lengths against the Jewish people.

Three things are necessary: Hitler must be stopped; the situation must be brought under control; the re-education of the German and other people must be attempted.

For the Jews the times are catastrophic, not only in Germany, but in all Hitler-occupied countries. It is not an exaggeration to say that in some of them the Jews are faced with extermination; Hitler has so declared his intention, and his unspeakable crimes of destruction on an unparalleled scale, especially in Poland to-day, prove that the intention is being carried out. The story of these mass executions was told us by Mr. R. Cohen, president of Edinburgh Synagogue, with a restraint that was remarkable; even so, the horror was felt, though mercifully the imagination is preserved in sanity by a measure of dullness.

But it would be stone blindness for us Christians to content ourselves with an expression of pity for the Jews, with the thought that this was a Jewish problem and that there was nothing in it that called for more from us. At the conference I had two things to say in this matter—(1) that, far from this being only a Jewish calamity, it was a world catastrophe of the first magnitude. That the Government of a presumably civilised modern nation should enact such deviltries — from which modern man had delivered himself so that persecution of the Jews had not been a State act for a hundred years but the act of elements which the State had repudited — this, as was pointed out by Rabbi Daiches, was a reversal of human progress which threatened all and brought humanity nearer to the abyss of destruction. The Jew today; but who else to-morrow?

(2) I also said that anti-Semitic feeling, which is not unknown even in Scotland, where the Jewish people have never been persecuted, was not a concern for Jews merely; in another aspect, it is a serious concern for Christians. Anti-Semitic feeling on the part of a Christian means that his Christianity is infected with a poison and has degenerated into something less than Christianity. Anti-Semitism must be fought by Christians for Christianity's sake.

The discussion at the Conference was friendly, ample and illuminating. In the end of the day we agreed on two resolutions—

The first, in three parts:

(a) Urged all governments to restore to such of the Jewish people as had been deprived of them those legal, economic and political rights which human dignity demanded, and freedom in the exercise of their religion;

(b) welcomed the declaration of His Majesty's Government and of other Allied Governments that those responsible for crimes against Jews should not escape punishment; and

(c) urged that in the plans now being made for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of Europe after the war, the United Nations should, in accordance with the above principles of equality under the law and of full citizenship, apply to the Jews the same principles as to others, paying due regard to any problems which may be found to be peculiar to them.

The second resolution set up a Continuation Committee, representative of the Churches in Scotland and of Scottish Jewry, for study, mutual enlightenment, and joint action, in the sphere of common interest. Without lowering either the standards of Christianity or of Judaism; but with each standing by its truth and the implications of its faith, we have much to learn from each other. Only by understanding the other faith and recognising frankly the demands made on its believers, can we hope to defeat together that anti-Semitic feeling which is enemy both to Christian and to Jewish belief and life.
